Jacqueline Gartrell

I'm Jacqueline Gartrell, the principal of John Eaton Elementary School. Our students come to school already prepared in lots of ways after having been immersed in the preschool or early childhood programming that PBS offers. So when children come already knowing certain letters and sounds that's always wonderful for us because they've already learned them based on what they've been watching on PBS.

In our population here at John Eaton parents enjoy PBS programming and often that's the only TV that they'll allow their children to watch. So it brings something to different ages starting at early childhood all the way up through intermediate grade into adults—I enjoy PBS myself.

We are John Eaton Elementary School and PBS Kids is our source for fun and education.
